PORTLAND KEROSENE OIL.

The great sale of a large quantity of inferior and

Therefore, we are present in an advertisement, and

THE EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

The conference of the Evangelical Alliance, as is well-known, has been in session in New York since the morning of Friday of last week. Considering the character and magnitude of this assembly, it is not surprising that its daily meetings are attended by crowds of people, and that its proceedings are regarded with profound interest, not only in this country, but in nearly every part of Christendom. The Evangelical Alliance is unquestionably the most extensive and, considered with reference to its objects, the most important affiliation of Christian people now existing in the world. It was first organized in London in April, 1846, and it has held five conferences since that date, in as many different capitals of Europe. Its principal aim appears to be to promote a mutual co-operation and agreement and a substantial unity of spirit among all Protestant Christians. It has nothing to do with ecclesiastical organizations, and nothing to do with particular creeds, save as they are the embodiment of certain fundamental truths of religion. Its members are not the representatives of churches or the delegates of conventions, but simply individual Christian men, who, without abandoning their chosen ecclesiastical convictions, yet desire to assert and maintain the supremacy of their common Christianity. They are wearied with the endless divisions of Protestantism, and mortified and disgusted with the arrogance and pretension, the bickering and strife, to which these divisions have given rise, and they seek to put an end to them. For this purpose they have formed an alliance which shall draw them together by closer bonds, which shall remind them how much more they have in common than they have in separation, and, which shall tend to form all Protestant Christians, not into one church but into a union of churches, without hostility and without jealousy, whose common work shall be to defend Christianity from all assailants and to extend its triumphs throughout the world.

The alliance thus formed is composed for the most part of men of the broadest views in the various Protestant communions. They are such as, though they may be warmly attached to their respective churches or denominations, yet believe that Christianity is not restricted to any one of these, but may exist in them all alike. Hence extreme churchmen of every denomination have but little sympathy with the organization. In their estimation, Christianity must stand or fall with their own particular sect, for it alone has been chosen as the depository of all the truth of God. Among these, therefore, the Evangelical Alliance encounters little else than indifference or contempt. The only remedy which such men have to propose for the division of Christendom, is that all others shall abandon their separate communions and unite with them. The only Christian unity which they will favor, is such as would arise from the adoption of their creed and from submission to their authority. It is this demand, supported as it usually is, by the civil power, which has in all ages done more than anything else to multiply and perpetuate divisions among Christian people. Against this arrogant pretension of any particular church or sect to be done the true representative of Christianity, the spirit of the Evangelical Alliance is, of course, especially opposed. Its aspiration is for Christian union and not for mere uniformity. To realize this aspiration, so far as practicable, has it been formed by Christian men, among the most eminent, for piety and learning, and for high character, in every part of the Protestant world.

The difficult question before such an assembly, of course, must be, by what measures this great result can be most effectually promoted. The Alliance is invested with no authority. It can utter no decrees and enact no canons for the government either of churches or of individuals. It is a power in the world only because of the numbers and characters of the men composing it. It can accomplish the results at which it aims only through the individual agency and influence of those who are imbued with its spirit, and who embrace its views in the several portions of Protestant Christendom. It is because the Conference in New York proceeds upon this principle that some disappointment has been felt at the absence of positiveness and effect in its deliberations. But this we apprehend, is unavoidable. It is a voluntary conference of individuals, and not a legislative body. Its members read papers and present views on certain great ideas, which underlie all theological systems and all ecclesiastical creeds, and these views are made the subjects of subsequent discussion. The mode of proceeding is like that which is adopted in the great Scientific Associations of England and America, which, in their way, have done so much to promote agreement among men of science and to stimulate their researches. A corresponding result in a still higher degree is to be anticipated from this world-assembly of earnest Christian men.

There are those, we are aware, who are disposed to ridicule all organized endeavors to promote the unity of Protestant Christendom, as if they were aiming at a chimera. They have no faith in its practicability. They do not believe that enough of intelligence and charity and brotherly love exists to secure such a result. They hold that the great mass of Christian believers care more for their particular church or creed than they do for Christianity itself. This, however, is not the view of the Evangelical Alliance, and its members are engaged in the grandest effort which has ever been made to bring about a cordial co-operation, and an essential unity among all the varieties of those who in Protestant countries, profess and call themselves Christians. We trust that they will persist in their magnificent enterprise till the result is fully accomplished, or at the very least till its impracticability is completely demonstrated.—Providence Journal.

The Houlton Times had hardly ceased its self-gratulation upon the failure of the Grand Jury to indict it for libel, which it rather effusively hailed as a triumph for the "freedom of the press," when the Presque Isle Sunrise informed the public that eleven out of the fourteen jurors favored an indictment, and that the Times only escaped through the doophole of a disagreement. It seemed hardly possible that an intelligent jury could fail to discriminate between the obvious indulgence of personal malice and the legitimate exercise of the liberty of the press.

The Augusta Journal is engaged in a hopeless task if it expects to induce the Portland Advertiser to retract any of its misstatements. The "independent press" relies entirely on its inventive capacity, and a few lying "mistakes" would soon ruin the business. The Advertiser publishes a gross misstatement concerning the election in Augusta, in furtherance of a personal spite, and the Journal, whose familiarity with the facts was so complete as the ignorance of the Advertiser, gave an explicit and conclusive refutation of the slander. To this the Advertiser coolly replies that there is simply a "question of veracity" between the two papers, when every one who knows anything of the matter is aware that the statements concocted by the Portland paper are absurdly untrue. Out of all the papers in the State, the Advertiser succeeded in gaining the temporary support of the Portland Star, but even that paper has become sick of its alliance, and the two sheets are now engaged in a discussion which is congenial to themselves, and of interest to nobody else.

THE ROCKLAND MURDER TRIAL. On Thursday afternoon Dr. Wood, professor of chemistry in Harvard University, testified in the Mank case on trial at Rockland, that he had subjected the spots on Miss Mank's night shirt to a careful examination, and found them to have been made by blood. Prof. Packard, of Bowdoin College, who was summoned in behalf of the prisoner, and was in Court during the examination of Dr. Wood, stated to prisoner's counsel that the examination of Dr. Wood had so completely exhausted the subject that his examination, if called, would only be to indorse his (Dr. Wood's) statements.

Seth Patterson, jailor at Wiscasset, identified a letter and envelope written and directed by the prisoner when in jail.

Maynard Sumner, bank president, was put on the stand as an expert in writing and gave his opinion that the threatening letters were written by the same person as those identified by Mr. Patterson.

THE NATHAN MURDER. Since the arrest of Irving, who claims to know all about the Nathan murder, the New York police are divulging facts of which detectives say they have for some time been aware, but which have never been given to the public. It is believed that Geo. Ellis, and Kelly, now in Sing Sing for burglary, another Sing Sing convict named Carr, and Billy Forester, now in Joliet prison, were engaged in the attempt to rob Nathan's house, July 29th, 1870. The job was "put up" by a German woman who subsequently went to board with Irving, and who there probably secured the papers, etc., by which he proposes to clear up the murder mystery. Dan Kelly was heard to say he killed Nathan, and to tell how he struck him with the iron "dog," which was given him by a caulker who had worked in the Navy Yard. The caulker is now dead. It is said that Irving will prove that Kelly killed Nathan with the iron "dog," that $10,000 in bonds which were in Nathan's safe, were seen in Kelly's hands a few days after the murder; that these bonds were negotiated and that Nathan's watch and chain were pawned on Centre street the day after the murder.

It is reported that Messrs. Alexander H. Stephens, Herschel V. Johnson and one or two other prominent Southern politicians will issue a new daily paper in Washington on or about the first of December next. It is understood that it will advocate the refunding of the cotton tax and other Southern jobs. It will also be "independent" in politics.

The State Temperance Convention at Utica, N. Y., Thursday, was attended by only fifty delegates and no nomination of State officers were made. A resolution was made demanding that Congress suppress the importation, manufacture and sale of liquors that they will vote only for a Legislature favorable to prohibition; recommending the citizens of the State to unite in securing from the State Legislature a law submitting to the people the question of prohibition, and urging the enforcement of the present law against Sunday traffic in liquors.

The majority of the one-capital amendment in Connecticut was 5,930. The counting of votes in New Haven is represented to have been something worse than a farce, and even the New Haven papers denounce it. The Hartford Times says there was a clear "stuff" of not less than 2,000 and probably nearer 3,000 votes. The result was kept back all night, until it appeared that the majority in the remainder of the State was too large for the resources of fraud.

GOV. WASHBURN of Wisconsin in his recent speech, said if the President would allow him to make a suggestion respecting appointments to office it would be that "he require members of Congress who recommend applicants for office, to certify on honor that the person recommended was personally known to him, that he believed him to be thoroughly competent, a man of ability, sobriety, integrity and honor, and if appointed he desired that this certificate should be made public in the community where the appointee resided."

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY. The annual report of the Western Union Telegraph Company made on Wednesday shows the following: Capital stock of the Company at the end of June, 1873, $41,073,410, of which there was outstanding $33,778,173 and owned by the Company $7,295,235. The debt of the Company on that day was $6,038,410, of which there was due on October 1, 1873, for American Telegraph bonds, $80,500; in November, 1875, for Western Union bonds, $4,143,900; in 1902, for Western Union gold bonds, $1,500,000.

The gross receipts of the Company for the past year from all sources are $9,388,018.51; gross expenses $6,757,055.82; net earnings $2,757,962.69. This amount has been applied to the construction of new lines, the purchase of stocks of telegraph companies, etc. The number of messages transmitted during the past year was 14,456,832, being an increase of 2,012,333, or about 16.1 per cent. The average tolls collected upon each message for the last year were 61 cents. The average cost of transmission was 42 cents, and the average profit per message was 19 cents. During the past year $700,789 55 was expended for repairs of the line, and $632 763 for reconstruction.

The net profits of the Company for the seven years from July 1, 1866, to June 30, 1873, have been $20,312,819 81. Of this sum $4,807,233 34 has been distributed as dividends to stockholders, and $2,216,194 98 was paid for interest on the company's bonds. The Western Union has purchased during the past year the control of the International Ocean Telegraph Company, whose lines extend from Lake City, Florida, to Havana, Cuba, at a cost of $1,038,400. They have also secured a majority of the stock of the Pacific & Atlantic Telegraph Company. They are now operating more than 150,000 miles of wire, and during the past two years have been extending at the rate of 20,000 miles of wire per annum. They have expended up to July last on the new building at the corner of Broadway and Dey streets the sum of $1,224,961 70, and it is expected that it will be finished early next spring.

Our musical readers will be interested to note the following commendation bestowed by the N. Y. Herald upon Miss Annie Louise Cary, of this State, on her performance in "Il Trovatore:"

Miss Cary astonished even her most enthusiastic admirers by the amount of tragic fire she infused into the role of the revengeful Gypsy. The first scene of the second act was interpreted by her with rare effect, and she was called out after her passionate parting with Manrico by the spontaneous voice of the entire audience. Again, when Azucena is taken prisoner by the Retainers of the Count, Miss Cary added further commendations to those which she had received before. She laboured indefatigably in the fourth act, and the first scene, scene, for she has expanded in the dramatic talent in her organization.

FROM AUGUSTA.

AN AGED MAN DROWNED.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 10.

Peter Stellings, about 70 years old, was drowned this afternoon in a pond about six miles east of this city. He was out fishing in a boat and probably had a fit, as he was found in his boat hanging over into the water, head foremost, remaining in the boat.

FROM ROCKLAND.

THE BAKER MURDER TRIAL

ROCKLAND, Oct. 10.

The court came in at nine o'clock. The court room was about half-filled. The prisoner seemed to manifest some anxiety, but is still cool and self-possessed. The articles of clothing which have been the subject of previous testimony were put into the case. Sarah Hobbs was called and identified a letter taken from the Mark house.

The threatening letters, six in number, were then put into the case, and were read by the County Attorney. These letters are alleged to have been written by the prisoner. The letters are highly threatening in character. Among the expressions used are, ruin, ruined me, soul, body, reputation and mind, and I will put a hobble through your life. You will need every cent. I have already put my life in your hands, pledged a year, etc. Vengeance is mine, etc. Two words used many times were Boston and a pistol which was given to Boston. The letters abound in direct threats, and some of them are grossly obscene in character. Most of them are without date of any nature, but two are signed L. A. Mark. This closed the Government testimony and the Court adjourned till afternoon.

AFTERNOON—OPENING OF THE DEFENSE.

The defense opened this afternoon. L. M. Staples, Esq., made the opening argument for the respondent. He called attention to the uncertain nature of circumstantial evidence, the ruling that every link in its chain must be established beyond doubt, and cited various cases where wrongful conviction had been obtained upon evidence of this character. He dwelt upon the circumstances of the prisoner's connection with Dr Baker, claiming that had been sacrificed by him seven years ago to the promise of marriage, as a means to retain her reputation was unfinished, and that he had kept up this illicit connection under repeated repetition of this promise. He claimed that there was a reconciliation between the prisoner and deceased after the threatening letters were sent, and that they met frequently on intimate terms after the date of the last letter (March 6th) up to the night of the murder. On that night deceased came to Warren Mank's house, received an affectionate welcome from the prisoner and occupied her bed. Both had been undressed and the prisoner was aroused by the sound of the pistol shots and in terror fled from the house and made her way to Mr. Spear's in the manner described. This was the simple story she had always told. What passed between them before the murder was related

THE PRISONER ON THE STAND

At the conclusion of the opening argument Mank was put upon the stand. He told the particulars of his acquaintance with Dr Baker, going into the general facts as stated above. The illicit connection between him began seven years ago, at which time he promised her marriage. He recited an abortion some time later and another to Boston for a like purpose last fall. She had also given birth to a child of which he was the father, three years ago. On the 21st of October last he had renewed his engagement to primary heir. From that time till Feb. very little continued to visit her, when he dealt harshly and in that month the threatening letters were written. In March he renewed and continued his visits and intercourse with her up to the time of the murder.

The prisoner had testified to the circumstances of her intimacy with Dr. Baker up to the Sunday preceding the tragedy, when a letter of abouncement having arrived, her [illegible] decided

THE COLT'S TRIAL

The shooting match in connection with the [illegible] took place at the Knox Trotting Park this afternoon. In the race for [illegible] than never beat three minutes the [illegible] were "Leeds," "Stonewall" Jackson, "Lady Knox" and "King"—mile heats, best three to five. Leeds won the first heat in 2 [illegible], and the third in 2 [illegible]. Stonewall [illegible] won the second in 2 [illegible], and King the fourth in 2 [illegible], the 5th was a dead heat between King and Leeds in 2 [illegible].

For the sweepstakes the entries were Light foot, Red Jacket, Honest Quaker, and King Wilmam. Lightfoot won in three straight heats, time, 2 [illegible], 2 [illegible], and 2 [illegible].

It being quite dark the unfinished race was postponed till to-morrow at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

FROM LEWISTON.

BATES COLLEGE ENDOWMENT

LEWISTON, Me., Oct. 10

The Free Baptist Education Society at its session in Farmington, N. H., subscribed $50,000 to Bates College, and only $8,000 now remains to be raised to secure $150,000 from Boston $100,000 of which is from Mr. Bates.

MARINE DISASTER.

SEARSPORT BRIG ASHORE.

BOSTON Oct. 10. Brig Benjamin Carver, of Searsport, from Port Johnson with a cargo of coal is ashore at Vineyard Haven, with loss of both anchors. The vessel is tight.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

NEW YORK.

THE BANKS ANXIOUS TO RESUME CURRENCY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. There is a very early prospect of making an end to the jobbing arrangement. Many of the old and prudently managed banks down town and nearly all the banks up town are restive under this arrangement, and desire the liberty of managing their own greenbacks as well as national bank notes in their own way, and receive and pay them out across their counters. Their reasons they very properly argue, cannot be made free as before suspension, as long as there is a discount on bank checks in Wall street, and while they have no ability about breaking up the arrangement of certifying checks payable through the Clearing House at 7 per cent. interest, they do insist upon the resumption in notes greenbacks or national, across their own counters.

No day is named for a meeting of Clearing House banks to relax the existing arrangement, but the probability is that it will not be later than Saturday or Monday next.

THE STOCKS GAIN.

The interest in the stocks exists on the increase. This forenoon the halls and corridors of the court were thronged by persons desirous of gaining admission. All who could not produce proper credentials were excluded. The prisoner entered the court shortly before 10 o'clock, looking pale and somewhat subdued. Some delay was caused by the absence of the prisoner's counsel.

The seventh juror was obtained, when the panel having been exhausted a new panel of 250 was ordered for to-morrow morning. After the usual address to the jurors already sworn in, the Court adjourned until to-morrow morning. Each juror was accompanied home by an officer, to prevent any irregularities which might serve as ground for a new trial.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

The delegates to the Evangelical Alliance were very busy to-day. Four sections meet, the first in Association Hall, the second in St. Paul's M. E. Church, third in Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church, and the fourth in Madison Square Church. A German meeting will be held this evening in Association Hall. The subject of discussion at all the sections is "Missionary Work." A paper by Rev. Rufus Anderson, D. D., of Boston, was read, stating that there are fifty missionary societies at work from the Evangelical denominations in Christendom, spending over $5,000,000 annually, and including 2,000 ordained missionaries. There is little to be apprehended from Papal opposition in barbarous nations, as the natives soon learn to look on them, as of a different religion.

All the sections were attended by crowded audiences.

THE NATHAN MURDER.

At 2 o'clock to day John S. Irving was brought to the private room at the Police Headquarters before District Attorney Phelps, Supt. Matsell and Coun Gardner. Irving appeared to be perfectly at the opportunity to ventilate what he knew, and laughed and joked with the officers on the way from the cell. His confession will be struck off anon.

FINANCIAL CRISIS—THE BANKS SUPPLYING ALL DEMANDS.

Mr. Camp, President of the Clearing House, stated to-day that financial matters were becoming brighter. The banks are gaining rapidly in greenbacks and confidence is being speedily restored. The banks, he says, have paid and are paying more currency than ever before, and all demands for legitimate business purposes are being supplied.

THE LOAN CERTIFICATES

outstanding amount to about $30,000,000, and are being cancelled as rapidly as the general welfare will admit of. Mr. Camp is of the opinion that a speedy cancellation of loan certificates would be disastrous. He hoped they would not be returned at the latest by Monday.

THE YELLOW BOYS.

Ten million dollars in gold coin have been received at the Assay Office here from the Philadelphia Mint since the 1st inst., and two millions in gold bars, the latter being the result of the melting of English sovereigns.

WASHINGTON.

ANNUAL RECEIPTS AND DISBURSMENTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. A Washington despatch says that the tables to accompany the annual report of Treasurer Spinner have been prepared. The net receipts of warrants, exclusive of repayments and counter-warrants were $346,699,221, and the net expenditures, exclusive of the same items, $324,013,597. The net receipts were distributed as follows:

Loans,		$214,091,017
Customs,		$188,089,522
Internal Revenue,		$113,729,314
Lands,		$2,892,317
Miscellaneous,		$29,077,053

The receipts from Customs have decreased since the report of last year $28,250,000, and those from Internal Revenue $10,000,000. Increase from miscellaneous sources $1,500,000 and from lands $300,000. The expenditures of the Diplomatic service have decreased $200,000, and those of the Judiciary increased about the same amount. Expenditures on account of public debt, $330,301,190, against $320,292,114 last year.

The Treasury holds from the national banks, to secure their circulation, $309,410,550, and to secure the government deposits $15,960,000—an increase in the first item of ten millions over last year, and a decrease in the latter of two hundred thousand. The business of the Treasury transacted through national banks was one hundred and four teen millions.

THE BACK PAY.

The First Comptroller of the Treasury has given an opinion different from that of the other accounting officers, to the effect that the appropriations made for back pay and salaries is not indefinite and permanent within the meaning of the act regulating unexpended balances, that it is only indefinite in amount and not in time, and consequently that at the end of two years unexpended balances of salary will revert to the Treasury.

COLORED ODD FELLOWS.

The Grand Lodge of Independent Order of Odd Fellows (colored) are to-day holding session in Georgetown. A large delegation is present from Baltimore, Richmond, Alexandria, Norfolk, Petersburg, Hamburg and New York. There is a procession this forenoon through the streets of Washington.

THE TREASURY BALANCES

to day are:

Currency,	$1,602,312
Special deposits of legal tenders for the redemption of certificates of deposit,	11,325,000
Coin, (including $30,948,400 in coin certificates)	79,819,898
Legal Tenders outstanding,	350,100,155

THE TURF.

BEACON PARK RACES.

BOSTON, Oct. 10. At the Beacon Park Races to-day there was a much larger crowd than on former days and some excellent sport was witnessed.

The race for horses that never beat 2.50 was won by Dustin's b. g. Howard Snow, beating Motley Chief, Eddy, Grey Eagle, Tom Bulls, Peter Simple and Thoughtful. Time 2.40, 2.43, 2.42, 2.43.

Eddy won the first heat. Bell took the third money.

THE 2.31 RACE.

The race for horses in the 2.31 class, was hotly contested by Garroll's b. g. Kirk, Mather's b. s. Rex Patchen, McElroy's ch. g. Col. Moulton, Dustin's b. g. Dustin Jim, Rowe's blk. s. Rowe's Tommy and Mather's b. g. John Franklin. Moulton won the first heat in 2.35 and Patchen the last three in 2.33, 2.34 and 2.34.

BILLED OFF THE TRACK.

Mr. Rowe, of Hartford, protested against the third heat being given to Patchen, and declared he would not start his horse, Tommy, for another heat. The Judges, Messrs B. F. Ricker of Brighton, O Hamilton of this city and D. A. Lowell of New Bedford, were unanimous in awarding him the heat, and upon Mr. Rowe's refusing to start in the last heat, enforced the rule laid down for such cases and expelled both horse and owner from all National Association tracks.

FROM BOSTON.

WRECK AND DEATH.

BOSTON, Oct. 10. An unknown schooner was discovered bottom up in Broad Sound below, this port, to day. The body of a woman, somewhat mutilated about the head was found lashed to the wreck. The body was brought to the city. It is supposed that all hands perished. The wreck is now being towed up to this city by a fishing vessel.

FATHER MATTHEW'S BAY.

This being the birthday of the great temperance reformer, Father Matthew, the Catholic Societies of Boston with delegations from all parts are celebrating it by a grand parade. Some fifty societies are in line in regalia with numerous bands of music. Weather delightful.

DELAWARE.

MARINE DISASTERS.

LEWES, Oct. 10. Brig Toledo drifted out to sea during the night and now lays off Henlopen light. She is probably breaking up, as large quantities of wrecked stuff are coming ashore.

The schooner John Griffith has been pumped out and will come off with a loss of a portion of her cargo.

The schooner Franklin Brown, of Philadelphia, for Somerset, Mass., lost her anchor on the 8th.

AN AUTUMNAL DAY.

BY LEWIS CARROLL PRINTER.

A living, pulsing glory fills the world,
And bids me speak.
My bounds; where slumber banners are unfurled,
And I awake.

The subtle wine of sunglow fills the air
And o'er the plain
The rising cord of glory everywhere
Shows golden rain.

Across the shades that dancing oak-boughs fling,
The yellow vine
Creeps on and mists to gold the dusky ring,
From its far clime.

The lance leaves of the chestnut clock the air
With emerald glow;
A thousand quivering jewels flutter there,
And to and fro.

The haughty maple-princess of the wood,
In blushing red,
Because the pine bowed low, from where he stood,
His kingly head.

The sombre hemlock, silent and alone,
In garb of woe,
Mourns still for griefs it never can atone,
In anguish low.

The slender birches send their wanton tune,
Light, glad and free;
And send, as all so, tides of sweet perfume
Across the lea.

The beeches hoary, monumental, tall,
Their song is swing,
Laugh while the oak-liege quiver to the fall
Which they withstand.

The home of God is bins from bound to bound—
Unmeasured vast!
A universe of circling worlds around—
All ones at last.
